“ Brandon came and picked me up, drove me to the farm, and on the way I was being a sideseat driver even tho his driving was perfect. lol neway, he took me to the farm to get me outta my apt and to visit with my sunshine friend Stephen. I had the best time sitting and chatting and laughing with them. I captured an emotion in his eyes when I took his pic. He was so happy. Smiling so big and didn't even know it. Lol. He became my "BIG LIL BROTHER", MY BESTIE. I loved him so much. We had a few heart to hearts. We laughed we cried . He was always a joy to be around. That big beautiful smile. His tender heart. Gentle soul. And easy going nature. One of a kind. I'll miss my big lil brother with a broken heart til we meet again. I love you lil bub. RIP baby

“ I will always miss you my dear cousin and friend. I remember roasting nuts in the oven at Christmas and the laughter as they exploded. And the time we took Aunt Barb and mom to drive through the Christmas lights at the horse park. And our garden at the A frame house. You're smile was warm and contagious. I know you're in heaven with family and friends until we see one another again, endless prayers for the family and friends you have left behind.

There's no wonder that heaven was in such a hurry to get this wonderful, caring, loving, and amazing soul up there to join with God and all the angels; Brandon brought more light to the people he touched than most people see in a lifetime. He always lit up a room when he walked in and everyone instantly became drawn to his gracious laugh and smile. He had such a precious way of setting a mood for an entire room or house full of people just with his presence. Many times this gentle soul picked me up from the dark recesses that life sometimes drags us down into and lifted me back up and shown me purpose. He taught me that I can never give up on life and just give in, that there's always something worth fighting for. He had lived a lifetime in the time he spent with us here on earth and had a wealth of knowledge that he would ever so gracefully share at exactly the right time someone was needing it in order to help them. Brandon truly was one of the few people that would go way out of his way to help anyone he could. He genuinely cared deeply for everyone who stumbled into his path. I've seen him open his doors to people needing shelter that did not have a place to go with a roof over their head, I've seen him drive all day to go pick someone up who was stranded and needed a ride, I've seen him literally take the shirt off his back and give to someone who was cold, and I witnessed him make things a little more difficult on himself in order to ease a burden from someone else. This man was the epitome of someone having a "Heart of Gold". I believe they really broke the mold when they made my dear lovely friend Brandon Catron and heaven got jealous that they were without him so they called him home. I'm so thankful and lucky to have met such a wonderful person that was able to positively impact my life and help get me back on the right path in life. He may have gone on home but he will never be forgotten and anyone who knew him will carry a piece of him in their hearts till their dying day. The wisdom, lessons, memories, stories, and love that he bestowed on so many of us is something that can never be taken away and will forever be cherished. I love you, Brandon Catron. I'm so sad that I wasn't able to feel one of your giant hugs one last time or be able to give you a proper goodbye but I look forward to the day that we're reunited in heaven and I can bask in your warmth again. Thank you, God, for making such a wonderful and majestic soul and blessing us with the time we had with him here. I will never meet another person like my big Pooh-Bear Brandon and I will carry on as much as I can of his philosophy, ideas, and aspirations. I can truly say that I'm a better and wiser person for having met Brandon. God Speed, my dear friend. You will forever be loved and dearly missed.
