“ I wish heaven had a phone line because some days the ache of not hearing your voice feels unbearable and I have so much I wish I could pour out to you ten years a whole decade and it still doesn't feel right saying your name like a memory instead of someone I can hold holidays just aren't the same without you the warmth the laughter the way everything felt whole when you were here it all disappeared when you left life kept moving even when I wasn't ready and I wish more than anything you were here to see what it's become I have a daughter now my beautiful little girl and every time she smiles or runs to me I think about how much you would've adored her she would've been your whole world just like you were mine and I finally found the woman I want to settle down with the one who actually makes me happy in a way that feels real and steady and I know you would've been proud of that too I swear I'd give anything just to hear you say my name one more time there are moments when I still look up hoping you're watching hoping you see the good in my life and feel proud I miss you in ways I can't explain and even after all this time the weight of it never gets lighter I just hope heaven somehow lets you hear me because I carry you with me every single day
