“ So very sorry to hear of Robert's passing. He was such an AMAZING man and the most Godly man I've ever known. Eric and I have so many fond memories of him. He loved to talk about fishing and shared some great stories of his many fishing trips and adventures every time we would stop. Eric used to take him some squirrels to eat after his eyes got too bad to hunt, and he would also let us come up there and deer hunt. He loved making bird houses, spending time with his family, and especially telling everyone he met how much he loved God. He would be standing out in the yard and we would stop and visit with him and always get a big hug and an "I love you all" for the road. Eric and I attended one of his recent birthday parties, and he was so humbled and excited to see how many people came to celebrate with him. He made a point to tell each person how much he loved them and how they should all get ready to be with the Lord as none of us are promised a tomorrow. We love him and everyone who ever knew him; loved him too. Such a great family and we certainly share in their loss and heartache. The legacy he leaves behind will live forever and his family and everyone who knew him, knows without any doubt that he is in heaven. I don't know of any greater legacy that anyone could leave behind than that.
