“ You always called me your little girl. I hated it because it made me feel like a child. I will miss you saying I'm your little girl. I will miss all the times I came to see you and you would smile and tell me you missed me. Ill miss all those times I would show up and you'd be drinking your coffee and sitting at the kitchen table. We butted heads constantly but it was because we was so much alike. You were the best man in the world at times. Tell Mamaw and Mommy I love them and miss them so.

“ First and foremost, I hope and pray that you were able to pray my brother. We talked to many times over the years for me to be convinced otherwise. I remember so many times that you would say ,I bet Lisa and Mommy and Daddy and aunt Mae and uncle George are sitting up there with God looking down on our bunch. Some of em smiling,the others crying,depending on how we were acting down here.We just said we were glad that they didnt have to hurt any more. Well BROTHER, , , ,cousin, , , , friend, ,,, I pray that our Lord took you on home in Heaven. If you're there ,tell them all hello and please tell my Mom and Dad and my beautifully Joyce how much I I love and miss them . And know my dearly loved BROTHER that there is not a heart in the BOOTH family that doesn't miss our other fallen BROTHER. I love you, I miss you,and I'm sorry I didn't know where you were at. I would have been there also.

“ Gosho there are so many and all of them but the last was filled with joy and laughter! I went to check on him and had a red sword. Scottie said let me see what ya got sissy. Well when he got that in his hand and his lil eyes lit up I knew that it had found its rightful owner. He pulled a tackle box that he keeps the items that are close to his heart in and tried to trade me everything for the sword. Well when I told him all I wanted was a penny for it tears belted up in his eyes and said it will be with him till the day I leave this old world and then said I love you sissy.
