“ Heartbreaking is an insufficient word to describe what so many of us are feeling, Lawanna and Robert, as you go through this dark night of the soul. While it was comforting to see so many people show their support for you and provide a tribute to Waylon, I know that our human abilities can only go so far. But may you find comfort in knowing that so many people care, and in the fact that prayers are ascending to the throne of God in your behalf. You are loved by many people and that love will help you get through this. The Owingsville First Church of God is uplifting you.
